66,400 sq. ft. (1.5 acres)

The design for San Jacinto Plaza is the result of ongoing outreach efforts with the city and residents of El Paso. A strong sense of history and tradition is embedded within the plaza, and the design is focused on interpreting the past through a contemporary lens; with the intent to reestablish the plaza as a central gathering space at the heart of downtown. At the core, the design is centered around flexibility such that the plaza becomes a place for everyday use, but is able to accommodate seasonal or spontaneous events.
