

University of the Pacific DeRosa University Center

Location
Stockton, California

Client
Gensler, San Francisco/ University of the Pacific

SWA Scope
Landscape architectural services
LEED Silver design

Size
4 acres

Architect
Gensler

Green/LEED-Rated Design Elements
Designed and registered for LEED Silver Certification

The new building includes a dining hall, student pub, event spaces and bookstore. The landscape surrounding the Center was carefully integrated into the existing campus structural and landscape elements and to the overall campus master plan. The creation of a function space lawn in the front of the building and a brick podium on which the building sits helps knit it into the existing language of the campus. Pedestrian circulation is linked to existing major campus promenades, and strengthened through tree plantings. A 400-square-foot fountain greets visitors as they approach the building's entrance. An application is in process for a LEED Silver rating.

