

Centura Health, Parker Medical Center

Centura Health is Colorado's largest healthcare system encompassing numerous hospitals, medical centers and senior living facilities. The moderately undulating site with scarce trees will host the new medical office space and a full-service hospital of this project. The landscape and architecture teams collaborated in locating and designing the building footprint to accommodate the proposed landscape features as well as merge the site elements into a well-composed design. The site encompasses formality (in the layout of site circulation and parking) as well as informality in planting and hardscape design.
