

Pula Coast, Croatia

The project is set amongst a series of pine-covered hills, archaeological ruins and historical villages, overlooking the crystal clear blue waters of the Mediterranean. The goal of the project was to create a prestigious Mediterranean resort for extended stays, expanding the tourism season with diverse tourist offerings to provide attractions for both local residents and tourists and to build a development team with local expertise and connections to local resources and people. With the master plan each of the development's eight resorts is uniquely situated and designed as an identifiable cluster formation placed at strategic points throughout the site that will allow every resort hotel to offer a unique relationship to the landform and the bay.
